

Our Top 5 Biographies & Autobiographies

Five unforgettable lives from sport, business and entertainment - plus further recommendations

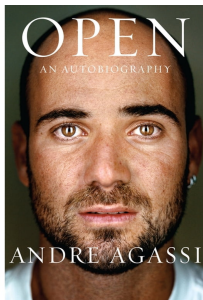

THE TOP FIVE

1 | TOP 5

Open

Andre Agassi

An unusually candid sporting memoir about talent, pressure, identity and reinvention. Agassi traces the difficult path from a childhood shaped by relentless training to becoming one of tennis's greatest champions.

BUY - US

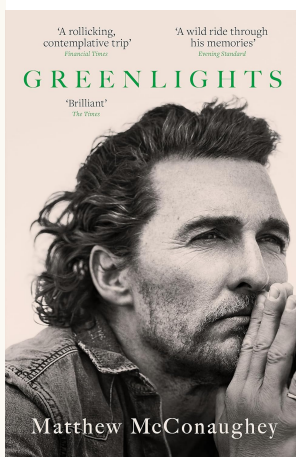

BUY - EUROPE

2 | TOP 5

Greenlights

Matthew McConaughey

Part memoir, part collection of hard-won lessons. Drawing on decades of journals, McConaughey reflects on family, career, failure, good fortune and learning to recognise life's green lights.

BUY - US

BUY - EUROPE

The Top Five - continued

3 | TOP 5

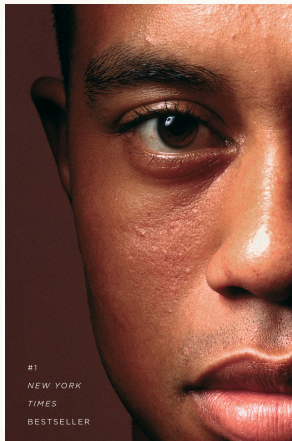

Shoe Dog

Phil Knight

The founder of Nike recounts the uncertain early years behind one of the world's most recognisable brands. Honest about risk, cash-flow crises, relationships, mistakes and the people who built the company.

BUY - US

BUY - EUROPE

4 | TOP 5

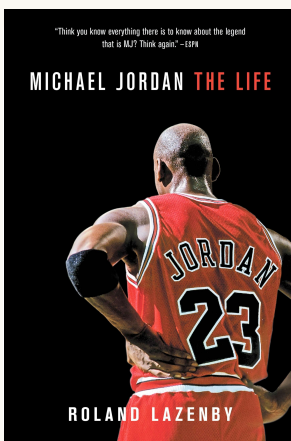

Tiger Woods

Jeff Benedict & Armen Keteyian

A deeply researched biography based on hundreds of interviews. It examines Woods's extraordinary rise, his family and public image, the cost of fame and the contradictions behind a sporting icon.

BUY - US

BUY - EUROPE

5 | TOP 5

Michael Jordan: The Life

Roland Lazenby

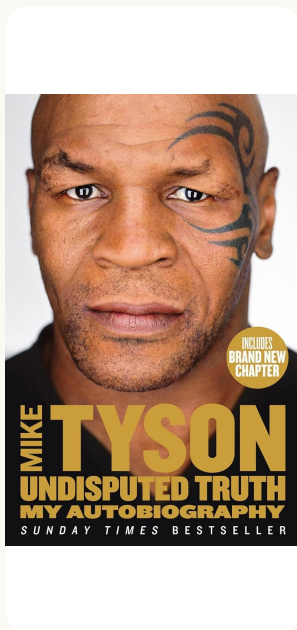

A detailed portrait of Jordan's ascent from North Carolina to global superstardom. Lazenby explores the family influences, fierce competitiveness and complex personality behind the basketball legend.

BUY - US

BUY - EUROPE

Further Recommendations

Four more compelling life stories from boxing, cycling, football and comedy.

RECOMMENDED

Undisputed Truth

Mike Tyson with Larry Sloman

Raw, chaotic and strikingly self-aware. Tyson tells the story of his Brooklyn childhood, astonishing rise to heavyweight champion, public downfall, addiction and attempts to rebuild his life.

BUY - US

BUY - EUROPE

RECOMMENDED

All That Matters

Sir Chris Hoy

A moving, life-affirming memoir shaped by Hoy's terminal cancer diagnosis. He reflects on elite sport, family, fear and why being present for life's most meaningful moments matters more than achievement.

BUY - US

BUY - EUROPE

Further Recommendations - continued

RECOMMENDED

The Second Half

Roy Keane with Roddy Doyle

Keane's characteristically direct account of leaving Manchester United, finishing his playing career, entering management and becoming a pundit. Blunt, funny and more reflective than expected.

BUY - US

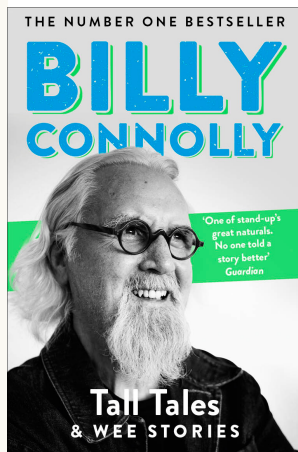

BUY - EUROPE

RECOMMENDED

Tall Tales & Wee Stories

Billy Connolly

Not a conventional autobiography, but a brilliant collection of Connolly's finest routines and stories. Together they capture his working-class roots, comic voice and gift for finding humour in ordinary life.

BUY - US

BUY - EUROPE